

Trade & Tariff Tracker: Reciprocal Tariff Rates and Negotiation Updates by Country

(As of Nov 20, 2025)

Background Information: Reciprocal tariff rates were originally published by the White House on April 2, with an effective date of April 9, for which a 90-day extension was granted. Then on July 7, the White House published an Executive Order further extending the reciprocal tariff deadline until August 1, 2025, while a 10% universal tariff rate remained in effect.

Subsequently President Trump indicated intentions to raise the baseline tariff rate and a series of letters were sent to a number of countries outlining increased rates that would be implemented on August 1 if trade deals were not negotiated.

On July 31, modifications to reciprocal tariffs were announced in an Executive Order published by the White House, outlined in “Annex I”. Note: trading partners not listed in Annex I (e.g, Morocco, Egypt) of the Executive Order will be subject to a 10% reciprocal tariff. Most new tariffs went into effect on August 7. In a separate Executive Order on July 31, President Trump announced the suspension of duty-free de minimis tariff exemptions for low-value shipments (<$800) from all countries.

Table 1 reflects the latest announced reciprocal tariff rates for key spice trading partners and Table 2 includes a comprehensive list of reciprocal rates per Annex I of the July 31 Executive Order or other established deals. Table 3 includes a list of spice tariff codes exempt from reciprocal tariffs per the Malaysia and Cambodia trade deals.

On November 14, a new Executive Order exempted many spices, alongside other products not grown in the U.S., from reciprocal tariffs globally. Table 4 lists spices that are on “Annex II”, and therefore now exempt from reciprocal tariffs. While imports of these spices are now exempt from the reciprocal tariffs, other duties, including other IEEPA tariffs remain in place for some countries. A new column has been added to Table 1 breaking out the reciprocal rate (for which Annex II is exempt) and the other IEEPA tariffs (for which Annex II commodities remain subject). Countries for which some IEEPA tariffs remain in effect are highlighted in green.

To see information on previous tariff rates, please refer to archived trackers in the Tariff & Trade section of the ASTA website.

Table 1: Tariff Rates for Top Spice Trading Partners*

Trading Partner	Reciprocal Rate (Annex II Exempt)	Other IEEPA Tariffs	Additional Details
Brazil	10%	40% (spices on Annex II now exempt)	An executive order was issued on July 30 formalizing an additional tariff rate of 40% under IEEPA, Section 301, and Section 604, in response to a range of policy concerns. This 40% tariff is in addition to the 10% reciprocal tariff. On November 20, a new executive order added additional agricultural commodities, including spices on Annex II to a list of exemptions.
Canada		35% on most non-USMCA goods	See July 31 Fact Sheet . Most goods from Canada enter as USMCA-compliant. Tariff cost exposure only applied on non-USMCA compliant goods. 25 October 2025: President Trump announced on Truth Social that Canada's tariff will increase by 10%. No details have been released.
China	10%	10%	On November 1, the White House announced that the U.S. and China reached a trade and economic agreement which implemented a reduced total tariff rate of 20% on November 10. The rate reflects a 10% IEEPA fentanyl tariff (down from 20%) and a 10% reciprocal baseline tariff, with the planned 24% increase suspended for one year (until Nov 2026). As such, total applied tariffs for imports from China is MFN + 20% IEEPA tariffs + 5-25% Section 301 (if applicable, based on product classification).
European Union	15% (inclusive of MFN) (No reciprocal tariffs for		On July 27, the US and EU struck a trade deal/framework which would apply a 15% reciprocal tariff rate on all EU imports into the US inclusive of most favored nation (MFN) duties applied. For products in which the MFN paprika and saffron)		tariff rate is higher than the 15% reciprocal tariff rate, only the MFN rate will be applied. On September 25, the US-EU Framework on an Agreement of Reciprocal, Fair, and Balanced Trade was released, which exempts paprika (HTS code 0904.22.20) and saffron (HTS code 0910.20.00) from reciprocal tariffs. No other spice commodities were identified for exemption in Annex I of the agreement.

India	25%	25%	On July 31, President Trump announced a tariff rate of 25%. However, on August 6, President Trump issued an Executive Order imposing an additional 25% ad valorem rate of duty on India, bringing the total levies to 50% in response to New Delhi's continued purchases of Russian oil. The new tariff is in effect as of August 27.
Indonesia	19%		On July 22, the White House released a Fact Sheet and Joint Statement with Indonesia on the details of the trade deal. While no specific details on spices have been announced, the statement indicates the countries "may also identify certain commodities that are not naturally available or domestically produced in the United States for a further reduction in the reciprocal tariff rate". ASTA has issued a statement on this framework.
Madagascar	15%		-
Malaysia	19% (spices on Table 3 exempt from reciprocal tariffs)		Letter on July 7 indicated tariff rate of 25%, but July 31 EO announced a 19% rate. On October 26, the U.S. and Malaysia published a joint agreement which include tariff exemptions for a variety of spices (see Table 3).
Mexico		25% on most non-USMCA goods	A letter on July 12 cites Mexico's "failure to stop the Cartels," while also mentioning trade barriers. A July 31 Truth Social announcement indicates no change to 25% reciprocal tariff for at least 90 days. IEEPA fentanyl tariff applies; USMCA-qualifying goods remain exempt from IEEPA tariffs.

Sri Lanka	20%		Letter on July 9 indicated 30%, but July 31 EO announced a 20% rate.
Vietnam	20%		Deal announced July 2 but not finalized. On October 26, the U.S. and Vietnam released a framework for an agreement on reciprocal trade. Reciprocal tariffs will remain at 20%. While certain products will be exempt from IEEPA tariffs, the final product list has not yet been published.

* Unless otherwise indicated these rates are in addition to MFN rates and other tariffs. See the Harmonized Tariff Schedule for a list of current MFN rates. Select spice tariff rates of the 2025 HTS are included as an Appendix.

 Vietnam: Transshipments — goods shipped through a country but originating elsewhere — would be subject to an additional 40% tariff. Vietnam is reportedly preparing stricter penalties to crack down on trade fraud and the illegal transshipment of goods, and has focused its inspections on Chinese products as it tries to comply with commitments this rule.
